RENDERED UNNECESSARY

By the incomparable newly invented Shaving Composition Cakes.

[By a gentleman lately arrived in this country from the continent of Europe.]

BY gentle friction to the beard they have the complete effect of shaving—and the public are assured, that they do not contain a single ingredient which might have the smallest tendency to injure the skin; but on the contrary they leave, after the removal of the beard, a most agreeable smoothness and softness on the skin, and entirely destroys cutaneous eruptions, &c. which occasion ver-ry disagreeable and distressing pain in shaving with a razor.

There are a few for sale at the bookstore

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale the House on Fairfax-street, in Alexandria, now occupied by Mrs. S. Nickolls. The assess- sors say this property is worth four thousand two hundred dollars, and have, year after year, assessed it at this sum; but the subscriber now offers it for sale at the half of the assessed value.

He also offers for sale:

The vacant Lots on Fairfax and Franklin- streets. Assessors have said that these Lots are worth three thousand two hundred dol- lars per acre, and have assessed them at that rate; but the subscriber will take less than the half of that sum per acre.

He would gladly sell all his property on the Mall—his Houses on King-street, near Royal street—his Houses on the same street, near Washington-street—his ground-rents, or any other property he has in Alexandria, on a credit of 6, 12, and 18 months.

The other named Jim, a lad about 16, 5 feet 4 or 5 inches high, light comple- xion but not of the mulatto cast—his cloth- ing a jacket and overalls of white twilled stuff, given him last fall. It is supposed they will keep together and endeavor to get to the Maryland fisheries and there pass for free persons, people in general being very credulous and ready to believe any tale—those of their complexion who are really free have authentic testimonials—any cer- tificate of freedom which is not under the hand and seal of a public officer is not entitled to credit, and is a proof of the true condition of the person holding it.

BY THE LAST MAIL.

NEW-YORK, March 30.

Latest News from England.

Last evening arrived at this port, the Bri- tish ship Hercules in 75 days from Liver- pool. She sailed the 14th of January, and the editors of the New York Gazette have been favored with London papers to the 11th January inclusive. Though these pa- pers contain no news from Spain as late as that received at this port by the ship Remi- tance from Cadiz, yet we find several arti- cles worthy of notice.

The embarkation of troops at Ramsgate, was completed on the 31st of Dec. and the day stood down. Channel with a fine wind. A supply of artillery for Spain, left Chatham on the 3d Jan.

The London Courier of the 9th Jan. men- tions the receipt of Boston papers to the 17th of Nov. and notices the proceedings of the Massachusetts legislature relative to the embargo.

The London papers confirm the gallant conduct, and glorious victories of gen. PA- lafox at Saragossa.

The French force at the attack upon Sa- ragossa, on the 21st December, was 15,000 foot and 2000 horse. The French were completely routed, and left 2000 dead on the field.

At our last dates, the king of England was well, and transacted business as usual. He had been confined from Christmas Day till the 1st Jan. when he went to St. Georges Chapel with his family.

The London papers contain various re- ports of a massacre of the French at Ma- drid, but not finally relied on.

The news from America, of the prospect of a non-intercourse, had caused a rise of American produce—Campbell's famous re- port to Congress, appears in all the English Gazettes.

The editor of the Courier, after giving the proceedings of our Congress relative to the non-intercourse, considers it a measure amounting to little or nothing—"it leaves, (says he) affairs in no worse a situation with respect to this country than they were left by the embargo."—"It is something like the old adage, of showing the teeth without being able to bite."—"The Americans hate us, but they dare not proceed to extremities—they are fearful of coming to close quar- ters—but they are quite ready to call us names at a distance. Nothing can be more undignified than their ill will to us; nothing can be more harsh and high sounding than their language; and when we read the speeches of the members of Congress, and the writings of American politicians against us, we are prepared to expect nothing less than war, open determined war. But they all end in some measure calculated to injure themselves more than us—and this they say, is taking a dignified position."

The Dec. Packet from N. York, arrived at Falmouth on the 7th Jan.

A British brig Packet sailed from Fal- mouth for N. York on the 10th Jan.

It is evident (says the London Courier of the 11th of Jan.) that our army is marching to Corunna, we take it for granted, there- fore that our ships and transports have been ordered from Vigo with all possible speed.

Mr. Ingraham a passenger in the Her- cules, is the bearer of dispatches from Mr. Pickney to the secretary of state.

The Charleston Packet, Huss, with na- val stores, cotton, &c. arrived at Liverpool, on the 7th of Jan from N. Carolina—So says a Liverpool paper of Jan. 10.

STOCKS, Jan. 10—3 pr. cent. Consols, 66 7-8—Omnium, 1 7-8 dis.

Jan. 11—2 per cent. Consols, 65 1-4 3-4 —3 per cent. red. 66 7-8—Omnium 1 1-4 1-2 discount.

LONDON, January 9.

The Cheerful cutter arrived at Plymouth on the 6th, in 3 days from Corunna. Capt. Windham, is the bearer of despatches from general Moore. They are dated at Astor- ga, Dec. 11, when the army were in good health and spirits.

The previous accounts had left our affairs in a very critical situation. Our army was near that of Soult, and a battle was con- sidered and immediately expected. The despatches state, that sir John Moore had marched his army from Benevento to Sa- hagin, with a view to attack marshal Soult, who was posted at Saldanha with about 18,000 men, and who had detachments sta- tioned along the river to the bridge of Car- rion. Sir John Moore had made his dis- positions for attack on the 23d, and settled his line of march, when he received an ac- count that the enemy had obtained a rein- forcement from Palencia.

It was said some time ago that the enemy had 9000 men at Palencia. This account was immediately followed by another from the marquis de Romana, stating that Bona- parte was proceeding by forced marches a- gainst his rear, from Madrid. Upon the receipt of this intelligence, being apprehen- sive, that if he even succeeded in his attack, his retreat would be exposed, sir John Moore resolved to fall back upon Bene- vento.

The propriety of this determination, and the necessity of exercising it with prompti- tude, will be evident to every body, when we state that by the time our army returned, the cavalry of the Imperial Guard had actu- ally arrived in the neighborhood of Bene- vento. It appears therefore, that Soult had been stationed at Saldanha to draw us on to an attack upon him, & had we attacked him as we proposed, and even gained an advan- tage over him, we should have found that Bonaparte had been taking advantage of our army being occupied with our operation a- gainst Soult, to throw a large force in our rear. That such was his intention, is con- firmed by the French officers who have been taken prisoners in the different skirmishes, and who state that Bonaparte, as soon as he was informed of sir John Moore's advanc- ing left Madrid himself, with the greater part of his force. It was about the date of his last bulletin that he left it, and the re- view of the duke of Dantzic's division be- yond the bridge of Segovia, was the imme- diate forerunner of his departure. While he was marching from Madrid in one di- rection, a second had been formed behind Soult's, and had we pushed through his, we should have fallen in with the two divisions that had marched from Vittoria, and Junot's troops from Portugal. The farthest point to which our troops advanced was Sahagin. Lord Paget's brigade was the advanced guard. And here we have to record nume- rous instances of the gallantry displayed by our troops in skirmishes with detachments of the enemy. Our infantry have not been engaged, but our cavalry have had repeated rencontres, and have been successful in e- very one of them. Never was a better body of cavalry.

On the 25th, upon retiring from Sahagin, lord Paget gained information that there were about 700 dragoons at Magorga; on which his lordship formed a plan to take the whole, which in a degree failed, from the escape of a dragoon out of a patrol, which he took prisoners; he was therefore reduc- ed to attack, instead of surrounding the French; but his lordship completely suc- ceeded, as he defeated the enemy with the 15th regiment, and took 160 prisoners; and in another action he took and killed above 100 of the enemy.

Brigadier-general Stewart, the brother of lord Castlereagh, has also distinguished himself greatly. His regiment, the 18th, fell in with a body of horse of the enemy, under the command of general Lefebvre. The enemy was advantageously posted and superior in number—but the Brigadier-Gen- eral did not hesitate an instant. He charged them with an impetuosity that was irresistible; he broke through their centre; killed above 100, and made 300 prisoners, among whom was Lefebvre himself—and this officer is actually arrived in England. He is the general of division that was re- pelled by Palafox at Saragossa, not mar- shal Lefebvre, duke of Dantzic, as was generally rumored yesterday evening.

Another account of this affair says, that after having driven back, on the 28th ult. the enemy's advanced guard of cavalry, and after our infantry had left Benevento on the 29th, brigadier-general Stewart attacked with the pickets of the 18th, the 10th dra- goons, and the Germans, seven squadrons of the Imperial Guard, which had passed the Cea. The action was sharp, but we succeeded in driving them across the river; having killed above thirty, wounded twenty-four and taken seventy prisoners, among whom is the commander of the cavalry of the Imperial Guard, general Lefebvre, and a colonel. When the French crossed the river, three of the guns belonging to the flying artillery were brought against them, and did great execution. On this day our loss, in killed and wounded, was about fifty men. Major Bagwell was slightly wound- ed.

The 7th, the 10th, and the 15th, as well as the 18th, have been engaged, and have all distinguished themselves by their enter- prize, activity and success. The affair of the 7th was extremely brilliant. Col. Ker- rison fell in with a patrol party of the ene- my, and charged them. He killed the com- manding officer of the party with his own hands, but after the Frenchman had receiv- ed his wound he broke col. Kerrison's arm with the hilt of his sword. The whole of the French party were either killed or made prisoners.

The affair of the 10th, or Prince of Wales' regiment, was also most gallant; and col. Leigh distinguished himself in a very conspicuous style. They attacked a party of horse, about 200 in number, and totally routed them.

These skirmishes took place both as our troops were advancing to Sahagin, and re- treating from it. The warmest affairs how- ever were in the falling back, the enemy ha- ving sent forward his cavalry to endeavor to break in among our infantry, and to make us retreat with disorder, confusion and loss. In this effort, the spirit, the activity, and the vigor of our cavalry invariably disap- pointed him. He was never able to get at our infantry, and he found he had no rea- son to congratulate himself upon falling in with our cavalry. The details we have given shew of what excellent materials our troops are composed, and make us regret that we cannot get at the enemy upon any thing like equal terms.

The whole amount of the force with which sir John Moore advanced to Sa- hagin, is stated to have been, including Ro- mana's division, not more than 45,000 men. The force which was advancing against us is said to have been not less than 150,000—for all the troops from the north down to Madrid were advancing to the westward to attack, and if possible to envelope us. Sir John Moore therefore did well in ordering a retreat. Six thousand men belonging to the Marquis of Romana's army marched with sir John Moore to Sahagin, on their return. As they had neglected to break down the bridge at Manilla, a part of the rear guard we are sorry to say was taken by the enemy's dragoons. From Sahagin, sir John Moore took the route to Benevento, and from thence to Astorga, which he reached on the 21st, meaning to fall back to Villa Franca and to Vigo, where the troops will if necessary, be embarked, and where about 20 sail of the line and 200 transports are assembled. The ships of war will of course receive troops, if the transports should be insufficient.

It is supposed by some persons that this movement of Bonaparte's main force to the north and north-west may have the effect of making an favorable diversion in favor of the Spanish armies in the south. We shall be glad to find this supposition well founded.

LONDON, January 5.

Government yesterday received, by the Encounter brig from Vigo, dispatches from General BAIRD, dated Benevento, Decem- ber 17, where his army halted two days be- fore by orders for that purpose. At this time a council of war was talked of. It was be- lieved the French had, at this time, not less than 200,000 men, capable of being brought against the British forces, in a few days.

PLYMOUTH, January 6.

The French General Lefebvre, who arriv- ed here in the Cutter Cheerful, from Corun- na, is now under guard at the Globe Inn.

By letters of the date of the 31st Decem- ber, from Corunna, it appears that accounts were received of the surrender of Barcelona, and the whole of Catalonia to the Spaniards: the French army were all made prisoners of war: the transports which were at Vigo had all left for England. His majesty's ship Ze- alous, with six sail of the line, were arrived at Vigo.

Arrived this day, the Princess Elizabeth Packet, with mails from Lisbon. The 14th dragoons had arrived there in six days, all well. The whole of the British infantry had left Portugal for the interior.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR FOR COUGHS.

THE increasing reputation of Hamilton's Elixir (which during the last nine years has become celebrated throughout the U. S.) warrants the assertion that it is the best remedy now in use, for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthma and approaching Consumptions. Experience has taught thousands, that the common opiates and balsamics, as they are called, finally aggravate every disorder of the breast and lungs, in the most distressing symptoms, that they load the stomach and impair the digestion, inflame the whole system, increase the difficulty of breathing and excite fever. But the qualities of this valuable discovery are evinced by perfectly opposite effects.

A single trial will prove that it restores the determination of the fluids to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious liquor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder the symptoms are effectually and permanently conquered, the reverse of common medicine which weakens the constitution and gives strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present some of its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the whooping cough, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Select Recommendations.

Philadelphia, August 9, 1806.

Mrs. H. Lee, widow of Richard Lee, jr. Being desirous to make public for the good of others the excellent quality of Hamilton's Elixir, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it; which I hope will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received from a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult, and frequently I have had suddenly to rise up in my bed with all the horrors of immediate suffocation. Add to these, a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated an approaching consumption. The advice of a most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician, who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it do much good. A bottle was procured from Mr. Birch's and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

GEO. BENNER, junior,

No. 11, Budd-street, Philadelphia.

Mr. Charles Myers, Hamstead-Hill, near Baltimore, had been a long time dangerously indisposed, and was reduced to the lowest state of weakness, insomuch that his recovery appeared extremely doubtful. His complaints which seemed to be affections of the breast and lungs, and general debility occasioned thereby, yielded little, but rather progressed under the treatment of several eminent physicians; when by the use of Hamilton's Elixir, his distressing cough was immediately alleviated, and every other symptom perfectly subdued. Four or five bottles entirely removed his complaints and restored him to an excellent state of health and strength, which he has for upwards of a year past, enjoyed without interruption.

From Luther Martin, esq. late attorney general of Maryland.

I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever coughs, colds, or similar complaints have rendered medicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and agreeable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the breast, accompanied with soreness, and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hesitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir as a valuable medicine, and deserving public attention.

ITCH CURED

By o o using Lee's Soveraign Ointment. The proprietor informs those persons and families who are suffering under this disease (against the infection of which no person is safe) that if this ointment is used at night on going to bed, it never fails to perform a cure by the following morning, as thousands who have used it during the last nine years can testify. The peculiar excellency of this infallible cure for the Itch over every other, are the certainty of a cure by a single application; the ingredients being so innocent as to be applied with perfect safety to the tenderest infant; and its being not only free from an offensive smell, but equally agreeable with the pleasantest pomatum.

The proprietor solemnly affirms that this ointment doth not contain a particle of brimstone, mercury, or any injurious ingredient whatever.
